

QUESTION WHETHER CITY IS THE GAINER BY DECISION OR NOT IS MATTER STILL UNSETTLED BY A HURRIED EXAMINATION OF THE RATE COMMISSION'S DECISION

PECULIAR WORDING OF THE RULING AS TO THE CONTENTION OF CITY AGAINST THE WATER COMPANY BRINGS OUT A PECULIAR STATE OF AFFAIRS THAT MUST BE ADJUSTED.

CITY MUST NOW PAY MORE FOR ITS WATER

While the Small Consumer Apparently Does Gain But A Few Pennies Per Quarter—Company However Must Install All Meters and Buy Those Now Owned By Individuals and Property Owners.

NEW JANESVILLE WATER RATES.

Effective at the Beginning of the Next Quarter.

The meter rates established by the State Railroad Commission designed to apply generally in the City of Janesville, are based upon two considerations—(1) the fact that a consumer is connected with the water plant can use the water if he wants to, and that the company maintains sufficient plant in readiness to supply the consumer's demand whenever that demand may come; and (2) the amount of water actually used. Therefore every consumer is required to pay a minimum or service charge, according to the size of the connection, and also a so-called capacity charge, measured by the number of gallons of water actually used. These rates are as follows:

Service Charge:	Fixed charge per quarter.
Size of meter.
1/2 to 3/4 inch	$1.50
3/4 inch	2.00
1 inch	2.50
1 1/2 inch	4.50
2 inches	6.00
3 inches	12.50
4 inches	18.00

Capacity Charge:

For the first 50,000 gallons used through a meter per quarter, 7 1/2 cents per thousand gallons. For the next 50,000 gallons, 5 1/2 cents per thousand gallons. For all over 100,000 gallons, 4 cents per thousand gallons.

Where more than one consumer is supplied through a meter an additional service charge of $1 per quarter shall be made for each additional consumer. This would apply to flat, apartment, buildings and separate gutters in office buildings.

To compute your water bill, ascertain the size of your meter, and also the amount of water you use. Add the service charge, as determined by the size of your meter, to the charge for the water used. Only the largest consumers, such as large water-using industrial plants, would come under the 4-cent rate. Practically every residence in the city uses greatly less than 50,000 gallons.

THE EFFECT ON CITY.

	New Rate	Old Rate
Hydrants and flushing	$15,800	$7,375
15 fountains, five paid for now	540	150
9 School Houses, estimated	800	None
10 Churches, estimated	200	None
City Hall, estimated	400	None
3 Engine Houses, estimated	1,200	None
City Library, estimated	60	None
Estimated cost	$19,000	$7,525
	7,525
Estimated increase	$11,275

On the Consumer:

Meter rates per Quarter:	New Rate	Old Rate
Water consumed	$1.50	$2.50
Same amount as old	.64
Same inspection	.25	2.39
Total	$2.39	.11

Here's what the Janesville Water Company is ordered to do:

Install services from main to curb line, also install meters, and AT THE EXPENSE OF THE COMPANY.

Meter and charge for at the regular rate all water served to public buildings. In other words, the private consumers will pay for what they use and the city government will pay for the water that it uses.

Charge $45 a year for each public fountain or fountains thereat.

Leave street sprinkling rates where they are at present.

Collect $15,800 a year for fire protection and sewer flushing as now furnished, and additional sums for any additional hydrants that may be ordered by the common council.

Make no charge to private parties for hydrants installed on their premises or at their own expense, in any form, except in cases where the premises are protected by the city.

Leave flat rates the same as at present except to reduce from 75 cents to 50 cents per year the charge per room in excess of five rooms in a house and reduce the water closet or bath charge from $1 to $3 per year.

Charge contractors for construction work water prescribed rates based on the amount of cement, brick, stone or other construction.

Either buy or pay rent on the meters that are now installed owned by the consumers.

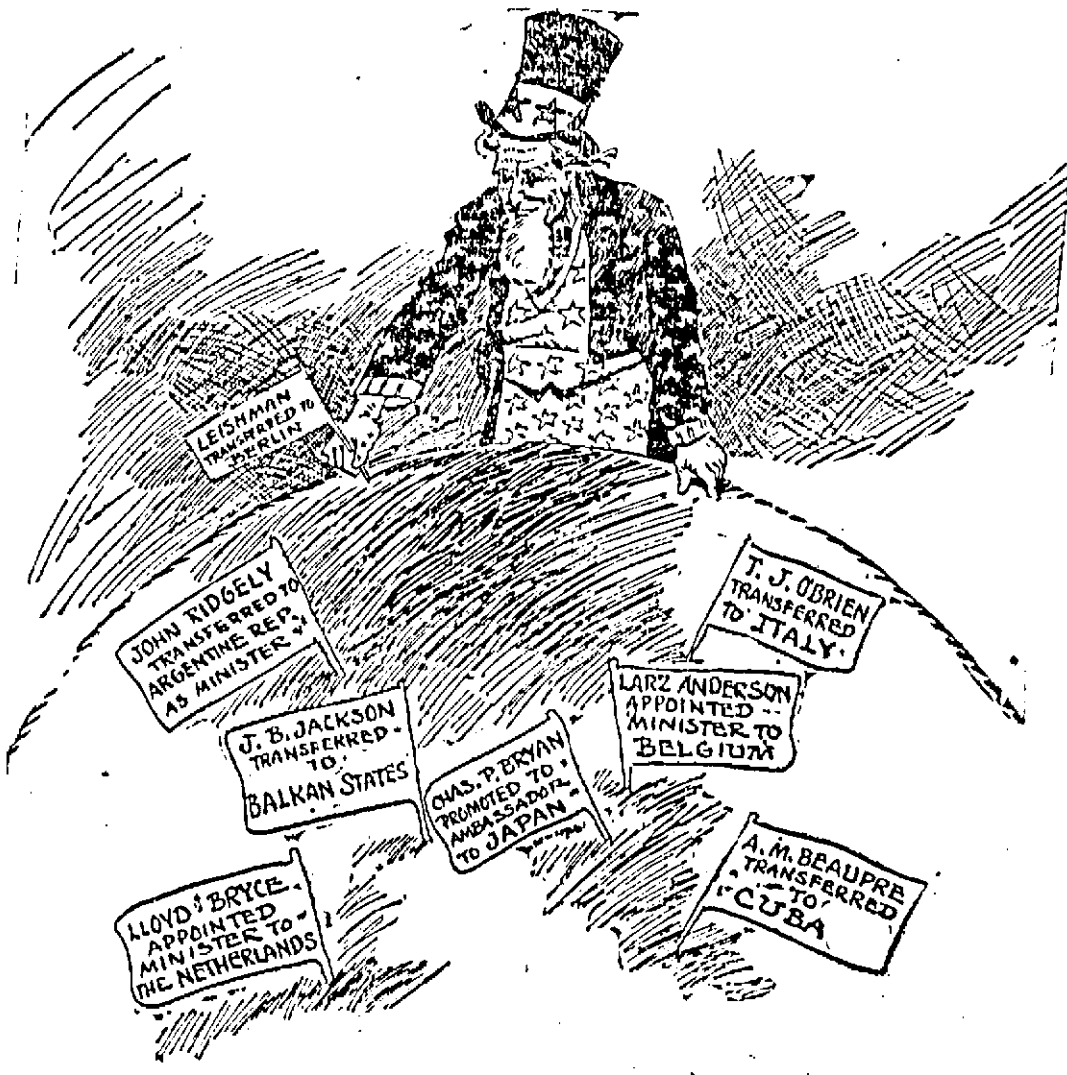

Charge a quarterly sum for service according to the size of the meter, and in addition charge as prescribed low rate according to the volume of water used.

Within two month lay a two-inch main on St. Mary's Avenue.

Make extensions on Walker street and Eastern Avenue if the common council shall hereafter order, these mains to be six inches in diameter, fire hydrants to be installed where wanted and the city to pay for the additional fire protection thus afforded.

House Agrees on Three Hours' Debate on the Motion—Adjournment Expected Soon—Taft Sends Third Veto—Washington News.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Aug. 18.—The wool bill, vetoed by the President, was called up in the House today. Democratic Leader Underwood moved the House, on reconsideration, to pass the bill over the President's veto. The House agreed upon three hours' debate on Underwood's motion.

Taft is Denounced. Representative James declared that Taft would go down in history as the first President of the United States who ever opposed his "pompous corporator" against the will of the people.

Up to People.

"They say," he continued, "we are trying to put the President in a hole. We are not doing that, but the people will put him in a hole in November, 1912."

To Close.

Interest in the debate was intense when announcement was made that Champ Clark would close the debate. Dwight canvassed the House and said the Democrats would fall short the two-thirds vote necessary to pass the bill over his veto.

Insurgents Ready. The support of the insurgent republicans to override the veto was forecasted by the speech of Lenroot (Wisconsin), progressive republican. Lenroot said the veto was based on ignorance, not on information.

TRAFFIC PARALYZED BY ENGLISH STRIKE; END, FAR FROM NEAR CONDITION THROUGHOUT GREAT BRITAIN SO CRITICAL THAT PARLIAMENT WILL NOT ADJOURN.

TROOPS AT STATIONS

Fifty Thousand Troops Arrive to Guard Lines of Communication in London And All Stations Are Carefully Guarded.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Aug. 18.—So critical does the government regard the strike situation that the cabinet has decided that parliament should not adjourn today as had been arranged.

Only Partial Success. The strike has been only a partial success. Some of the railways are operating but a few trains while other roads continued practically normal.

Chancellor's Statement. The statement of Chancellor Lloyd George to the Commons last night had much to do in preventing more general response to the leader's call for a strike. Many men were reluctant to quit as long as there was a possibility of grievances being considered by an impartial commission.

Troops at Stations. Military forces are in possession of stations along the railways. Fifty thousand troops arrived in London during the night and today they encamped at points to protect lines of communication.

$200,000 Men Quit. Union leaders this afternoon claimed two hundred thousand men had quit work. Conditions in the provinces are more serious than in London. Manchester business is at a standstill and at Liverpool chaos is complete.

Effect in Wales. Throughout Wales there is a complete stoppage of traffic. As the day progressed serious reports were received. Strikers took possession of the railway at Llanelly, Wales, and repulsed the police.

Government Blamed. At a meeting of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants this afternoon, Assistant Secretary Thomas blamed the government for the strike, and appealed to all railroad men to join the great fight for emancipation. The speaker said, "Scotland is already cut off. Traffic in Wales is absolutely stopped. There is no communication between Bristol and Channel Ports and within another five hours the whole railway system of the United Kingdom will be stopped. Railway unions mean to fight to the finish."

Strike is General. [BY UNITED PRESS.] The general strike order is being observed today throughout the entire Kingdom including Ireland and Scotland, reports here say. Up to late this afternoon no effort had been made to operate the railroads with soldiers.

Adjournment Postponed. The House of Commons today adopted a resolution postponing adjournment for one week.

Tie-Up Predicted. London, Eng., Aug. 18.—The British army and navy against British labor struggling for living wages and human working hours summed up the nation wide strike situation today. Labor leaders declare within three days all English railroads will be tied up. They are now badly paralyzed as result of yesterday's all embracing strike order.

Situation Deadlocked. The strike situation is dead locked. The railway managers announced this afternoon their intention to abide by the government offer to appoint a royal commission to investigate the demands of the men. They refuse any further concessions, or to recognize representatives of the unions.

Estimates On Number. Estimates today placed 90,000 railroad workers out in the United Kingdom; 50,000 persons in London strikes and 45,000 in Liverpool strikes, also 100,000 thrown out of work because of transportation tie-ups.

Bread Riots Begin. Liverpool, Eng., Aug. 18.—Bread riots have begun here. Hunger maddened, a mob of women and children stormed bakeries and big grocery establishments today, taking food only. Cloting continues throughout the city. City scavengers joined the strikes today, threatening an epidemic.

Imports Here Decrease. New York, Aug. 18.—Effects of the strike show that imports from England have fallen off nearly eighty per cent.

"BATTLE AGAINST BOTTLE" RENEWED BY GOOD TEMPLARS

Declaration of War On Liquor Traffic Is Re-issued At Meeting of Grand Lodge At Camp Cleghorn, August 14 and 15.

That the Independent Order of Good Templars has not given up the fight against the liquor traffic is clearly shown by the issue of the resolutions adopted and the recommendations made at the meeting of the grand lodge which was held at Camp Cleghorn, Waupaca County, on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The sense of the meeting is clearly shown by the reports of the committees on the state of the order and on legislative action which follow the report of committee on state of the order.

The Grand Chief Templar's statement that we need more enthusiasm in our lodge work, is undoubtedly true, and we believe this is partly due to the fact that Good Templars do not fully appreciate the tremendous service the order has rendered in the "battle against the bottle." In the first place our Good Templar forerunners adopted a platform as far back as 1828, that covered every phase of this reform and every battle, but one, indicated by that platform has been won.

The argument for total abstinence can no longer be successfully answered. The economic claims of the liquor traffic have been blasted. The legal statutes have been unimpaired. There is absolutely nothing left of it today, but its political standing, the elimination of that political power will be a glorious victory, which our Good Templar order is equipped, above all others, to accomplish.

There will be no lack of enthusiasm in our ranks if these facts are properly emphasized and this great opportunity as well as responsibility is courageously assumed by our order.

Report of Committee on Legislative action:

We hereby reiterate and reaffirm our unswerving allegiance to the basic principles of our order, namely, total abstinence for the individual and total prohibition for the state, with no license for the traffic in alcoholic beverages, in any form, under any circumstances or for any price. We demand the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic as the only effective means of ending the evils caused by the selling of intoxicants and we do not believe that this can ever be brought about save through a political party definitely committed to this policy.

The defeat of all anti-liquor legislation in practically every state in the Union in the past two years, the defeat of constitutional prohibition through political manipulation in every state where the question has been submitted, during that time, the continued refusal of our national congress to enact any law for the protection of dry territory, and the systematic neglect or refusal of officials to enforce anti-liquor laws emphasizes the hopelessness of endeavor to secure any effective legislation to curb the evils of the liquor traffic so long as our government is controlled by men and parties who are in sympathy with and controlled by the liquor traffic. In view of this fact we recommend that our efforts be directed toward securing control of local, state and national government is in control of men and a party definitely committed to the abolition of the liquor traffic by the enactment and enforcement of such laws as may be necessary to carry out that program, and the repeal of all laws permitting the licensing of the liquor traffic or receiving revenue therefrom.

NEW CASH FARE LAW BECOMES EFFECTIVE

Protests Made Today When Extra Ten Cents Collected On Trains Is Not Returned As Formerly.—Law Effective Yesterday Welcomed By Conductors.

Yesterday was the effective date of the new law requiring that the additional sum of ten cents be paid when fares are paid on the train. On the Northwestern line a pile of this nature has been in force for some time but the passengers who paid their fares on the train had the privilege of presenting the receipt obtained from the conductor at the ticket window at any of the stations of the line and having this extra sum refunded.

Under this new law, however, the extra amount will not be refunded and because of this fact there were many "kicks" registered this morning by persons who had forgotten that the rule which was followed by the Northwestern line in an effort to relieve the conductors of much of the work incident to attending to passengers on the trains had taken the form of a law with the change mentioned. These persons had not noticed that the receipts issued to them were different from those formerly given by the conductors and that the new receipt stipulates that there will be no refund of the extra amount paid.

Many people who make frequent trips between local stations never stop to think of the extra amount of work caused by their failure to buy tickets at the station. Some conductors have issued as high as two hundred receipts a day for cash fares received on the trains and this in addition to the regular work of collecting tickets has imposed upon them much more work than was necessary.

This new law aims to relieve the conductors of the extra duty incident to the collecting and receiving for cash fares and while it may seem hard for the traveling public to fall in line with the requirements of the new law the objections which were registered today seem to indicate that their inability to collect the refund was possible before the law became effective, will lead them to patronize the ticket window much more than they have.

been accustomed to do in the past. When the fare of ten cents extra, above the regular fare is exacted from them a few times, especially when the distance traveled is only very short, they will begin to realize that they are not to enjoy the liberty formerly enjoyed of imposing extra work on their servants without paying something extra in return.

The new statute is welcomed by the conductors and it will be looked upon in the same spirit by the public as soon as they become accustomed to the change from the old to the new.

TRAFFIC TIED UP BY DERAILED CARS

Two Cars of Gravel Train Jumped the Track Near the Gravel Pit And Interfered With Traffic for An Hour This Morning.

Two cars of a gravel train jumped the track near the entrance to the gravel pit north of the city at about nine o'clock this morning and tied up the traffic for about an hour. This resulted in inconvenience to a few passengers who were on the southbound passenger which is due to about that time, and who wished to make connections with other trains further down the line.

The gravel train was being brought from the pit when the truck of one car left the track at one of the frogs and the car which this gave to the car behind threw that off the track also and both were in such a position that the train on the main line could not get past. The wrecker was hurried to the scene and had the track cleared and everything was running in good order within an hour after the cars were derailed.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. Engineer Knudling reported for duty today and is relieving Engineer Mead who is taking a day off.

Engineer Komauch and Fireman Hanzlik took train 91 out on the Mineral Point division this morning at 9:30.

The local yards have been a very busy place during the past few days where three engines and four crews have been employed to handle the freight between Janesville and Davis Junction.

Engineer Hillmeyer and Fireman Hanzlik took train 91 out on the Mineral Point division this morning at 9:30.

NO MORE FREE MESSAGES TO TRACE LOST ARTICLES

According to a law which became effective recently it will not be possible in the future for station agents to send messages free for the purpose of tracing baggage lost on trains by passengers. It has been customary in the past for passengers to report at once the loss of parcels or baggage which they may have left in the coaches or lost in some other way on the train. The station agent would then telegraph ahead and try in that way to trace the lost articles.

In the future such messages must be sent at the expense of the passenger and employees of the railway company will be held liable for any breach of the new law.

Engineer Watson and Fireman Edwards came down from Fond du Lac today to begin work at the gravel pit to which they were assigned according to the new bulletin recently issued.

An extra switch-engine was placed in the service at the local yards today. There are now two 7 a. m. and two 7 p. m. switch engines in the service and the half and half run has been discontinued.

Call-boy Robert Erdman, better known as "Bob," attempted to get some experience yesterday in the handling of live snakes and had a narrow escape from being seriously bitten. It seems that he aspires to become a second "Elo," the great snake-eater. The first reptile with which he attempted to demonstrate his ability in that line decided that the tables should be turned. In order to prevent the snake from driving the ambitious "Bob" to the "tall timber" Eddie Sullivan had to come to the rescue and dispatched the serpent with a blow of a pick.

After taking a ride of a few miles in an aeroplane at Chicago a few days ago it is reported that Engineer L. E. Palmer aspires to rival Wright Brothers and aims to gain a complete victory over the air. His old accustomed run seems too slow for him now and he craves for a chance to leave the old beaten path and wander with the birds in the realms above. In fact he has become such an enthusiastic birdman now that it is thought that he may soon try to fit a pair of wings on his iron horse and attempt some spurs of speed across the country that will startle the natives.

Janesville natives of Miss Pearl Francis, daughter of Charles Francis, residing on Harrison street, were very much surprised to learn of her marriage in Rockford yesterday morning to Martin Dickerson of that place. Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson will make their home in Rockford.

DAY SENTENCED TO ONE YEAR AT HARD LABOR IN PRISON

Man Accused of Picking Pocket of E. H. Vanderbilt of Juda Pleaded Guilty in Municipal Court Today.

Thomas Day, accused of stealing fifty cents in cash and a silver watch valued at eight dollars from the person of E. H. Vanderbilt of Juda, on Tuesday, pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning and was sentenced to one year at hard labor in the state prison at Waupun. Day's trial was set for August 21, but he immediately tried in order to plead guilty and filed a petition to that effect. The information in the case was filed by the district attorney this morning. Whisky intoxication was given by Day as the cause for the act. As it was Day's first offense the court was inclined to be lenient.

It was learned last evening by the police that Day had stolen the watch from Vanderbilt before taking his victim to the court house park and had pawned it immediately after stealing it at the second hand store of O. H. Hand & Co. Day not only told Mr. Hand that the watch belonged to him when he sold it, but gave Mr. Hand his name. On learning of the robbery Mr. Hand immediately telephoned Chief of Police Appleby and the time piece was recovered. The recovery of the watch made a clear case against Day.

Locke Case Adjourned. Walter Locke, who was brought into court some time ago for refusal and neglect to support his children, appeared before the court again this morning. Locke, when previously arraigned, agreed to pay six dollars a week toward the support of the children, but had not been doing so. He claimed a sickness of work. Locke's wife has commenced divorce proceedings in the circuit court and the decision in the suit is expected on Monday. Pending the outcome of the divorce suit, the case against the man was adjourned to Tuesday. The two children were signed over to the care of an aunt of Mrs. Locke, who has agreed to take charge of them.

Parks to Be Good. Emory Parks, who was arraigned on complaint of his wife, Mrs. Margaret Parks, on a charge of drunkenness, agreed to stop drinking and his case was adjourned one month. Parks, while in an intoxicated condition, it is said, started a "rough-house" at the family home and the woman had a warrant for his arrest sworn out. Parks, it is said, decided his property to his wife last winter and has been paying board.

There will be something doing every minute at Yost's Park, Tuesday, August 22, upon the occasion of the annual picnic of the Janesville Grocers which will be held there on that date. Those who have the affair in charge are completing the final arrangements and the outlook is bright for a bigger and better picnic than has ever been seen in years past.

The day will be started by a parade of all of the proprietors and their clerks which will form at the west end of Milwaukee street and end at the intersection terminating at the river. In the afternoon, the games of which there will be a great variety, will commence at one o'clock sharp. The feature of these games will probably be the "ground pig" contest, which will consist of letting loose a grained pig, the winner being the person who can catch the animal and put him in a box, thus proving himself rather speedy as well as the owner of the pig.

At 3:30 in the afternoon will take place the ball game between the Janesville Cubs and the Holst Stars. This promises to be a fast and interesting game. Other games which will be witnessed during the afternoon are duck races, running races, barrel races, three-legged races, clothes pin races, tug of war, guessing contests, etc. There will be dancing during the afternoon and evening.

Everybody who attends the picnic is assured of a good time. The round trip fare on the Interurban is 25c and there will be three special cars—at nine, ten and one o'clock—besides the regular runs every hour.

RUSH AND BUSTLE CONSTANT STRAIN

American Life One to Strain Both Mind and Body.

The push and hustle of American life is a constant strain on both mind and body. Gradually the human machine wears out under this unnatural strain and nervous debility results. Statistics show that half the people of the United States are in a run-down nervous condition.

A man or woman in this condition can get little happiness or success out of life. They feel tired all the time, have no energy or ambition and are gloomy, timid and despondent. They do not sleep well or eat well or feel well and life instead of being a pleasure seems more like a burden.

Are you one of these half sick, half-worn, nervous people? If you are you know that there is a tonic now being sold that has brought back the old energy and pleasure in life to thousands who have tried it. The name of the tonic is Toma Vita. It is being introduced in this country by a number of physicians. It has been pronounced the greatest medicine ever before sold to the public. In each city there is an agent for Toma Vita who will refund the purchase price if the tonic fails to give you complete and entire satisfaction. Let Toma Vita build you up and bring back your strength and vitality. You will be astonished how quickly it acts. The very first dose will convince you what a great medicine it is.

Locke's Rubarb Laxative is used as an assistant to Toma Vita in cases of chronic constipation. It is a family medicine pleasant to the taste, containing the splendid laxative qualities of rubarb. Ask your physician about rubarb and see if he does not tell you it is the best possible laxative for children.

The Smith Pharmacy have the agency for these two great medicines in Janesville.

Is Highest Point. Hazelton claims that the highest inhabited point in Pennsylvania is in that city, at the corner of Thomas and Eleventh streets, where the elevation is 1,887 feet above sea level.

is not to do the largest possible volume of business, but to keep the largest possible number of women comfortably, tastefully and fashionably dressed. To give the utmost possible value for every dollar we accept.

Notice Our Hosiery Values

Because we know there is no economy in cheap merchandise, we do not offer cheap merchandise to you. Every article that leaves our store is of quality, and priced as low as honest merchandise can be sold.

Three of our buyers left for New York, Boston and Philadelphia Thursday morning to get the really new styles in suits, coats, costumes and millinery for fall. In all sincerity we say, BUY EARLY but not too early. Too early buying for the retailer or consumer means simply a re-hash of last season's styles and fabrics. Although we have not finished remodel our store, we will have the right styles at the right time.

I have the pleasure of fitting up some unfortunate friend with new teeth.

False teeth are not very desirable, but if one's own natural teeth are gone, why then false teeth are the only alternative.

The better way is to look after your own teeth "in time."

Let me keep you out of the false teeth "slough of despond."

MAY HOLD AVIATIONMEET AS A PART OF LABOR CELEBRATION

American Aviation Company, Chicago, Has Written Gazette Regarding Flights To Be Given Here Labor Day.

A letter has been received by the Gazette Publishing Company from the American Aviation Company, who look some of the famous aviators now taking part in the flights of Chicago, stating that they are desirous of giving a flight in this city on Labor Day. The letter has been turned over to the officials of the Janesville Park Association and it is possible that arrangements will be made for an aviation meet. Much interest has been aroused in aviation through the meet now on in Chicago and the recent flights in Rockford and many Janesville people attended both. The American Aviation Company is the booking agent for some of the best known birdmen, including several of the Baldwin Bros., Captain Baldwin, "Bud" Mars, Ted Schirmer, and Harry Powers, all of whom are taking part in the flights at Chicago.

The Curtis Company wrote to the Gazette a short time ago regarding a proposition to give exhibition flights in this city and the matter was turned over to the proper authorities, but they did not care to take up the matter.

CAPTAIN HAINS, IN JAIL. STARTS SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Former Army Officer Seeking Separation From Wife, for Whom He Killed W. C. Annis.

New York, Aug. 18.—The suit of Capt. Peter C. Hains against his wife for divorce was called for trial before Justice Sander in Brooklyn. The captain is in Sing Sing, where he is serving a sentence of eight years for killing William C. Annis. The victim of the tragedy is named in the action.

Whether or not Captain Hains, whose heroic old father, Gen. Peter C. Hains, arrived in New York to assist his favorite son, will be permitted to doff the convict's stripes long enough to testify cannot be ascertained.

W. C. Percy, counsel for Captain Hains, declares his belief that the defendant will not contest.

It was on August 15, 1908, that the famous tragedy occurred. A gay crowd was at the Haystack Yacht club Mr. and Mrs. Annis and Mrs. Hains were members of a party that was on a float ready to embark in a small boat. Annis was sitting in the boat. Captain Hains, dressed in civilian attire, walked into the club grounds. He was accompanied by his brother, Thornton Hains, a well-known writer. Both were armed, but this was not seen until the two men approached the boat and the officer suddenly began firing at Annis. The wife of the victim saw their intention in time to scream a warning to the man in the boat, but before he could make a move to save himself there were five bullets in his body and he lay dying. "You have shot the wrong man," he gasped with his last breath.

RAMPOLLA IS LIKELY CHOICE IN CASE OF POPE PIUS' DEATH

Italian Cardinal Thought To Hold Balance Of Favor In Election Should Expected Death of Pius X. Occur.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Rome, Aug. 18.—That Pope Pius cannot last much longer is becoming a matter of conviction in all quarters. As a consequence the possibility of the imminent conclave is in the thoughts of all persons connected with the Vatican, though there is not the slightest sign as yet of canvassing or intrigue among the Cardinals for the chair of St. Peter. Nevertheless, prognostications as to the possible successor to the present Pontiff are being made.

Italian Majority.

The Sacred College now has only 49 members, twenty-eight Italians and twenty-one foreigners. The Italian majority is strong in number, but it is stronger still in influence. Nearly all the Italian Cardinals reside in Rome and direct all the affairs of the papacy. As heads of congregations they have the power exercised elsewhere by the cabinet ministers. Their views are carried out by Italian subordinates. All the papal medals are Italian, depending from an Italian Cardinal secretary of state. The majority of the Vatican officials are Italian, from the high chamberlains of the apostolic palace to the lowest menial employed about the premises. All these people with their influence, which is strong, have nothing to gain and everything to lose from a foreign successor to Pius X.

Sentiment Unanimous.

Foreign Cardinals being thus out of the contest, the choice of the next Pope will be confined to one of the twenty-eight Italian members of the Sacred College. The best Catholic sentiment in Rome at the present time seems to be unanimous in its expression in favor of Cardinal Rampolla as successor to Pius X. Cardinal Rampolla came near being a successful candidate in 1903 when the present Pope was chosen. It may be assumed that the Cardinals who voted for him at the last conclave will again support him, while it is well known that many of his former adversaries are now his supporters. Pius X. himself is reported to have said that he felt that his successor should be Leo XIV., thus clearly designating Rampolla, whose policy would have been a continuation of that of Leo XIII.

Rampolla Near Office.

The election of Rampolla at the last conclave was prevented only by Austria's veto. There will be no mention of a veto at the next conclave, for one of the first acts of Pope Pius X. was the promulgation of a constitution abolishing the veto power of Austria, Spain and France in the papal elections and prohibiting Cardinals under the pain of excommunication from receiving even in the form of a simple desire any demand for their good offices in presenting a veto or making it known in the conclave regardless of whatever manner it may have come to their knowledge.

Cardinal Rampolla is without exception at the present time the most notable figure of the Sacred College. He is a Sicilian by birth and it was just sixty-eight years ago yesterday that he first saw the light of day. He was educated at the College Capranica in Rome, and in 1875 became attached to the nunciature at Madrid.

Lived Retired Life.

In 1877 he became secretary of the congregation of Oriental Rites. In 1882 he was created titular Archbishop of St. Heraclea and sent to Spain as nuncio. He was created and proclaimed Cardinal, March 11, 1887, taking title from the Church of St. Cecilia, and a few months later was named secretary of state. Since the death of his former chief, Pope Leo XIII., he has lived a very retired and unobtrusive life, almost exclusively as head priest of St. Peter's.

The distinguished family connections of Cardinal Rampolla, his intimate acquaintance with Spanish and English affairs, and his abilities to cope with political questions are well known. Also he is quite as famous for his learning as for his ability. He has written the best works extant upon the traditions of the Greek church, and upon the infallibility of the Pope, and he is the author of a notable volume on the historical accuracy of the story of the Magi.

Another advantage possessed by the cardinal as a candidate for the chair of St. Peter is his patrician ancestry, for it is a tradition of the Church that the Pope should be a man of patrician birth.

Rampolla's views are quite as liberal as those of any of the hierarchy and he has often expressed warm admiration for Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ireland and other members of the liberal party of the Catholic church in America.

Just Like That.

DE LA BARRA REFUSES HONOR

Issues Manifesto Against His Own Nomination for Presidency.

Mexico City, Mex., Aug. 18.—Nominated for the presidency by one party, suggested for office by another and anticipating that the Catholics, now in convention, would choose him as their candidate, President de la Barra issued a manifesto protesting against such action.

He declares his unwillingness to accept such an honor and urges the citizens of the republic to select his successor and permit him to retire at the close of his provisional incumbency.

BERGER SAVES NAVAL REBEL

Interest in Escaped Political Offender Averts Deportation.

Milwaukee, Aug. 18.—Frederick Malloff, the Russian sailor wanted by Russia for his part in the naval revolt of last year, will not be sent back by this government to be shot for his offenses.

Malloff was sentenced to death, but escaped and stowed himself away on an American boat. Nearing this country, he leaped overboard and swam ashore, but was found and claimed by Russian agents, who tried to have him deported as a criminal.

The case was taken up by New York's U. S. interested Congressman Berger, and the state department has ruled that he can remain in this country.

TAFT VETOES WOOL MEASURE AT ONCE

President Sends in Message Rejecting Tariff Revision Measure.

GIVES REASON FOR ACT

Declares He is Not Certain Bill Provides Remedy Sought—Says Revision of Schedule K is Making Shift.

Washington, Aug. 18.—President Taft sent to congress his veto of the Underwood wool bill.

The veto message was sent in after a long session of the cabinet at which the entire matter was discussed. It is understood that at this meeting it was decided that the farmers' free list bill and the cotton tariff measure also are to be vetoed promptly when they reach the president, which will be soon.

Tells Reasons for Veto.

The wool veto message is in part as follows:

"I was elected to the presidency as the candidate of a party which in its platform declared its aim and purpose to be to maintain a protective tariff by the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries."

"I have always regarded this language as fixing the proper measure of protection at the ascertained difference between the cost of production at home and that abroad, and have construed the reference to the profit of American industries as intended, not to add a new element to the measure stated or to exclude from the cost of production abroad the element of a manufacturer's or producer's profit, but only to emphasize the importance of including in the American cost a manufacturer's or producer's profit reasonably according to the American standard."

Tells of Extra Session.

"In accordance with a promise made in the same platform I called an extra session of the Sixty-first congress, at which a general revision of the tariff was made and adopted in the Payne bill. It was contended by those who opposed the Payne bill that the existing rates of the Dingley bill were excessive and that the rates adopted in the revising statute were not sufficiently reduced to conform to the promised measure."

"The great difficulty, however, in discussing the new rates adopted was that there were no means available by which impartial persons could determine what in fact was the difference in cost of production between the products of this country and the same products abroad."

The president then tells in detail of the naming of the tariff board and of its work.

Quotes From Report.

The president, after quoting from a report of the tariff commission, continues:

"This brings me to the consideration of the terms of the bill presented for my approval. Schedule K is the most complicated schedule in the tariff. It classifies raw wool with different rates for different classes; it affords the manufacturer what is called a compensatory duty to make up for the increased price of the raw material he has to use due to the rate on raw wool, and for the shrinkage that takes place in scouring the wool for manufacture, and it gives him, in addition, an ad valorem duty to protect him against foreign competition with cheap labor."

"The usages which prevail in scouring the wool, in making the yarn, and in the manufacture of cloth present a complication of technical detail that prevents anyone, not especially informed concerning wool growing and manufacture, from understanding the schedule and the effect of changes in the various rates and percentages."

Doubts Bill's Efficiency.

"If there ever was a schedule that needed consideration and investigation and elaborate explanation by experts before its amendment, it is schedule K."

"But I have no sufficient data upon which I can judge how schedule K ought to be amended or how its rates ought to be reduced, in order that the new bill shall furnish the proper measure of protection and no more. Nor have I sources of information which satisfy me that the bill presented to me for signature will accomplish this result."

ASTOR PLANS YACHT WEDDING

Ceremony on Water Imminent, Declares Friend of Colonel.

New York, Aug. 18.—That Col. John Jacob Astor and Miss Madeleine Talmage Force will probably be married on the colonel's yacht Norma, and that the wedding is imminent, was announced here by a friend of both families.

That Colonel Astor has bestowed upon his bride-elect jewels to the value of a quarter of a million dollars was another interesting revelation that the day brought forth. Miss Force's engagement ring alone is said to be worth $30,000.

Not Familiar.

A gentleman friend appeared greatly disappointed when my four-year-old Louise declined to shake hands with him. I said to her, "Louise, why won't you shake hands with Mr. B?" "Well, mamma," she replied, "I can't shake hands with him!"—The Delinquent.

A PRAYER FOR YOU

By REV. STEPHEN PAULSON

THINK—For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father . . . that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith.—Eph. 1:17, 14:17.

This is part of a prayer of St. Paul for his people. Paul was in a Roman prison. The liberty of his movements was restrained; he was in a stone cell, and he was chained to a Roman soldier—but his prayers were not chained.

St. Paul says: "The prayer of a righteous man availeth much;" and there are surely more things wrought by prayer than we ever imagine. I tell you it is worth while having one who carries you on his heart to such an extent that he prays for your safety and welfare. When Lot's family was in danger Abraham prayed until God promised them safety. When the Ephesian church was going through the fires of persecution, Paul sent up prayers in their behalf from his prison cell. When Peter was in danger of backsliding, Jesus prayed for him: "Simon, Simon, behold Satan hath desired to have thee, but I have prayed for thee that the faith fail not."

Do not many faithful pastors send up prayers, as Paul did, for the churches committed to their care? Do they not pray for the homes of the congregation and for individuals who are going through some trial and for the young people who are starting out into life? And now as of old, the prayer of a true, sincere man availeth much. It is a part of a faithful minister's service which is very often overlooked and yet is of the first importance. What a fine thing it was for the Ephesians to have St. Paul praying for them upon every remembrance. Although he was far away, he was still their pastor, the shepherd of their souls.

But for what did he pray? Did he pray that they might live in comfort and ease and have plenty? Did he pray that they might be free from persecution and that the church might grow without hindrance? That, probably would have been our prayer under like circumstances. But his prayer was "That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith."

How wonderfully comprehensive that prayer is when we begin to analyze it. Oh, it takes the inspiration of the Holy Spirit to make a prayer like that. It takes insight into the deep things of God, and into the needs of the human heart.

Do you think that there is anything you need more than that? Do you not honestly think that that would make most things right which are wrong, would bind up broken hearts, would heal things that hurt, and drive out evil things which are spoiling your life? Yes, you know it, and I know it, so let our prayers be that Christ may dwell in our hearts by faith.

This is the substance of your faith. A better and more comprehensible definition of our religion could not be given. It contains the whole of Christianity as the acorn contains the oak.

The whole Jewish law had its divine inspiration, its secret spirit, but it was hidden in a vast system of forms. Christ said, "I come not to destroy but to fulfill," and the true spirit of the law was seen in him. In winter an old apple tree is homely, gnarled and twisted. But in spring when it is covered with blossoms there is nothing more beautiful. So the old Jewish law blossoms into beauty and comes to fruit in Jesus Christ.

Christianity is not a system of laws, but a state of the heart. Christ in a man—that is the Christian religion. It is Christ dwelling in the heart by faith, and then a man begins to know the length and the breadth and height and depth of the love of Christ which passeth knowledge. Outside of personal experience, Christianity is pale as a lunar rainbow.

There are three avenues of experience by which Christ may come to man—sight, intellect, the heart. To have seen Christ was deemed of great importance in the early days. Those who had seen Jesus possessed a certain distinction. Paul, defending his apostleship, says, "Have I not seen him?" But how meager was the Christian life of those days compared with that of later ages, and did not Jesus pronounce a blessing on those who had not seen and yet believed?

Christ may be presented to a man's intellect. There are certain facts to be known and understood concerning him, but there are also many that are beyond our understanding. Creeds sum up a few great facts of our religion. Not that the repetition of a creed will make anyone a Christian, but a creed is like the astronomer's telescope. He sweeps the heavens to find a particular star. By and by the telescope brings it to his eye. It is not the instrument that sees the star, but the man's eye. A blind man could not see the heavenly bodies with a telescope, no matter how powerful it might be. So a creed may bring facts to your intellect, but it takes the heart to apprehend and interpret them.

Therefore Paul prayed for the Ephesians not greater knowledge, but that Christ might dwell in their hearts by faith. For the heart may embrace Christ with an enthusiasm of love, even though the intellectual perception be imperfect and vague.

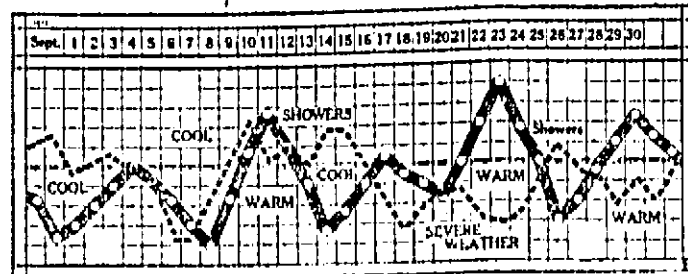

Enthusiasm.

When there is nothing left for a man to be enthusiastic over he might as well be dead.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS

On the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Press Bible Question Club.

(Copyright 1910 by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

August 20th, 1911.

(Copyright, 1910, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.) Jeremiah Cast into Prison. Jer. xxxvii.

Golden Text—Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Matt. v:11.

(1.) Verses 1-2—When sin is working wreck and ruin, how do you explain that men keep on in their disobedience to God, as Zedekiah did?

(2.) How did Zedekiah become king of Judah?

(3.) What if any relation was Zedekiah to the king of Babylon. (See 2 Kings xxiv:17.)

(4.) What makes people disregard one whom they believe to be a true prophet, as many of these Jews did Jeremiah?

(5.) Verses 3-4—Jerusalem was now besieged with a powerful army, and Zedekiah in fear sent to ask Jeremiah to pray to God for them; was there merit or demerit in this request from such a man? Why?

(6.) Does God answer the prayers of the wicked for the success of their projects, or the prayers of good people in their behalf?

(7.) How should a man be treated who is constantly plotting out national sins, and forecasting their disastrous consequences? Is he a traitor or a patriot?

(8.) Verses 5-10—Zedekiah in spite of his oath to the king of Babylon had rebelled against him, and made a bargain with the king of Egypt; what did God say through Jeremiah should be the result?

(9.) What is the demerit of the sin to break an oath or betray a trust?

(10.) What reason is there to believe that there comes a time, in the life of an individual, when his fate is sealed and his doom certain?

(11.) Verse 11—The Chaldean king of Babylon raised the siege of Jerusalem, so that Pharaoh's army of relief returned to Egypt, possibly driven back by the Chaldeans. This gave Jerusalem a short respite. What should the wicked do while God withholds his judgments?

(12.) Verses 12-14—What was the probable object of Jeremiah in leaving Jerusalem, now he had the opportunity?

(13.) Was there any ground at all for accusing Jeremiah of being a traitor? (See chap. 28.)

(14.) Which is generally the worse, "a lie out of whole cloth" or one based upon facts perverted?

(15.) Verses 15-16—Why in view of God's almighty power does He permit his servants to suffer for their very faithfulness?

(16.) Verse 17—Likely by this time the Chaldean army had re-invested the city, and then Zedekiah, the king, sets Jeremiah out of prison to consult him. Is it a usual thing for good people, and when in adversity consult them, or ask their prayers? Give your reasons.

(17.) Jeremiah told the king the blunt truth. Why should we always do that with sinners?

(18.) Verses 18-21—Does a good man ever get where he may not suffer hunger, cold, or other bodily discomforts, or when he does not desire bodily comforts as do other men? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

The Skin and Not the Blood.

Until recently it has been a generally accepted proposition that eczema was a disease of the blood, and that in order to cure it, the blood must be purified and enriched by internal remedies. Careful experiments and scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is purely skin disease, and curable through the skin alone. A great majority of persons afflicted with eczema have no other ailment, which is accepted as positive proof that it is purely a skin disease. Having established this fact, the chemists of the American Drug and Press Association set about to compound a prescription that would successfully cope with this disease, and after much investigating brought out Meritol Eczema Remedy, the effect of which is marvelous. If you are afflicted with this loathsome disease, do not delay trying Meritol Eczema Remedy. You will be surprised at its prompt action, its soothing effect and its permanent results. Reliable Drug Co. are commissioned by the association to sell it in Janesville.

ILLEGAL FISHING CASE IS DISMISSED

Men Who Appeared Before Justice North Yesterday Dismissed When Complaining Witness Fails to Appear.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, Aug. 18.—Bert Cox and Proctor Clough of Indian Ford, who, upon complaint of James Warden Meason were arrested last week on the charge of selling in the Caladonia spring brook in Porter, yesterday were themselves when they appeared before Justice North and the case is now ended. The case was a peculiar one and no doubt all concerned in the matter are glad it is out of court.

Declaring themselves innocent of the charge, Cox and Clough demanded a jury trial, which was granted. Following further investigations the complainant made no appearance in court at the proper time yesterday, although the case was held open for one hour. Mr. Cox is engaged in business at the Ford and while fond of hunting and fishing was never known to do an unlawful act.

Buried This Afternoon. Mrs. Alta L. Barnson, who for two years was at the Mendota hospital where she was pronounced incurable and then taken to the Rock county asylum seventeen years ago, died there Wednesday and the remains were brought here the same day.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Leola Spencer, was born January 19, 1857, at Coe Ridge, Ohio, and resided in Edgerton many years. She is survived by one son and one daughter, Harlan R. Barnson and Mrs. Mabel L. Barnson of Milwaukee, who are here to arrange for the burial. The funeral took place this afternoon at the M. E. church at 2 o'clock. Interment was in Pleasant cemetery.

Personal Mention. Misses Elizabeth and Hattie Lund spent the day yesterday in Janesville.

Mrs. George Schmeling and family of three children of Seymour are here on a visit for a number of weeks with friends.

Prof. and Mrs. Oberdick, after spending the week here departed this morning for their home in Horicon.

Mrs. Clark Pierce, who has been quite ill for the past week, is reported to be improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moore of Long Beach, Cal., after a week's visit with Mrs. James Spilke and other relatives here, departed yesterday on a visit to relatives in the west. Mrs. Spilke will leave for Long Beach in about a month, intending to remain over the winter with them in the Golden State.

A fair sized delegation of young people from this city attended a social dance at Milton Junction last night. The American Harp orchestra of this city furnished the music.

Marathon Swimming Race. St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 18.—Lovers of aquatic sports are manifesting a lively interest in the annual Mississippi River Marathon swimming race to be pulled off here tomorrow under the auspices of the Missouri Athletic club. The contest will bring together a number of the speediest swimmers of the country. "Bud" Goodwin of New York, who won the race last year, has advised the club that he will not compete in tomorrow's race. His withdrawal from the list will leave Michael McDermott of Chicago the favorite, although he will have two formidable competitors in Heath and Goessling of St. Louis.

Laymen's Missionary Movement. Waycross, Ga., Aug. 18.—Many well known church workers, both lay and clerical, assembled here today for the opening of a three days' convention of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. The gathering is held under the auspices of the laymen's committee of the Georgia Baptist Convention and the attendance includes delegates from all sections of the state.

QUESTION WHETHER CITY IS GAINER BY THE DECISION

remain except that the charge for each room of a house or excess of five rooms shall be reduced from 75 cents to 50 cents per year and the charge for water closets and baths in residences shall be reduced from $4 to $3 a year.

Maxfield Continued. Mr. Maxfield, who carried the case to the commission, stated this morning:

"I am perfectly satisfied that the consumer has won a complete victory. It is a victory for the water consumer and property owner who has water service installed in his building. But a part of the decision that effects the rates between the water company and the city of Janesville in a corporate capacity is a modification of the old contract and franchise existing between this company and the city, which contract and franchise was made under special legislative authority, which especially provided that the same was a contract as well as a franchise.

"I seriously doubt the power of the commission to relieve the water company of the performance of this obligation imposed by their contract, notwithstanding the decision of our supreme court last spring in the La Crosse Gas and Electric case, as a question there involved, and the main point of issue, was not the question of a contract and franchise made under special legislative authority, but under general law. But to obtain a decision in this matter I feel that it would be necessary, in view of the sweeping decision made by our supreme court in this case, to carry the matter to the federal court, for which we have ninety days' time, if deemed advisable. As to whether this course is to be pursued, I don't feel at liberty to state, until I have thoroughly gone through the decision, which is very voluminous, and well considered its provisions, and consulted the mayor and aldermen.

"Under the provisions of the public utility law the city can purchase the water plant under a valuation placed on the same by the engineer of the commission and operate its own water works system. But as to which course will be pursued will be determined later."

The Decision. While the analysis of the decision has not been completed as yet all roughly speaking it looks as though there has been no real reduction in any of the rates, except something to the consumer.

Under the new rulings the city will pay in the neighborhood of $19,000 for the water, the hydrants and flushing, thirteen drinking fountains, nine school houses, fifteen churches, City Hall, three engine houses, and the city library, consume in place of $7,525 they now pay.

The present cost for the hydrants rental and flushing is $7,375 and under the new ruling will be $16,800, a decided increase. This means the city will pay fifty dollars a hydrant instead of $25 as they do now.

The thirteen fountains, eleven drinking and two display will cost the city $540 in place of $150 they now pay. In fact but five of the drinking fountains are paid for now, the other six being free.

Another most material increase will be the taxation for the water used in the nine schools. This is estimated at $800, where now no charge is made. The fifteen churches, now free it is estimated will pay $400 per annum. The City Hall, now free, will cost the tax payers about $100.

A large quantity of water is used at the three engine house, estimated at $1,200 per year, where now nothing is paid and the estimated cost of water at the city library is $50, now furnished free.

This affects the pocket book of the tax payer considerably. It is the property owner that will feel this increase and not the individual consumer.

Turning to the individual consumer it does not appear much of a saving. The order compels the Water Company to own the meters, where owned by the property owner they must buy of them or rent. However the flat meter service is placed at $1.50 per quarter.

The old figures were $2.50 per quarter, which permitted the consumer to use 7,200 gallons per quarter. This means that under the new rate, the consumer pays $1.50 whether he uses any water at all and 61 cents for the same amount he would have paid for under the old rate. Add to this a fee of a dollar a year, or twenty five cents per quarter, allowed by law for meter inspection, and it brings the estimated total cost to the consumer of $2.50 per quarter or a saving of 11 cents.

However there are other redeeming features. The present charge for furnishing water on the flat rate is five dollars per five room house and seventy five cents per each additional room. Bath tubs and closets are charged $1. The new rates leave the flat rate the same, but reduce the price per additional room to fifty cents and baths and closets from $1 to 33c.

Taking it all in all it is a puzzle to see where even the consumer has much the best of it and it is certain that the city will have to pay more for its water supply in the future.

The Smell Was Cheap. "What's the strange, quaint odor?" asked a lady who was walking with a friend in the foyer of one of the big New York hotels. Her companion sniffed sharply. "Why, it's Japanese chrysanthemum oil," she replied.

"It's rare nowadays. It's used on the hair, and is elaborately mixed with perfume. If there is anything more expensive I haven't heard of it."

WOMAN'S PAGE

Thought for Today

MRS. ROBERT M. LAPOLETTE.

LIFE'S PLAN.

LIFE'S PLAN is one of pleasure and pain, but at first we do not see it so. A kind of mysterious struggle, between sun and shade; laughter and tears; heavy burdening with happiness, and breaking with grief; a beautiful bride, earth's maid—a year of blessedness, then dead in child birth; a man strong in love and hope and resolution; crushed and desolate and alone—the height of his joy measuring the depths of despair.

These great elemental experiences sweep past us. We look on in sympathy, still expecting only happiness to come our way. Then some day we are struck. "The world is different. It is life's plan. We live an others have lived, because we must—because if we have work to do, glad when we can smile again, but never the same.

We know the unsearched do not see life as it is, and we would not have them see it so. Their turn will come. We wish we might have been spared, we pray they may be. But we know sooner or later they must suffer. I remember as a young girl, hearing a bright hearted woman I had always greatly admired, say, "pity the young." It haunted and puzzled me until I learned what she meant.

Deep down in every experienced heart, mingled with the joy in seeing babies, laughing children, and happy lovers, is the dread of the long road their feet must travel, of the pain they must endure. Yet we would not have them live empty lives. We want them to know the pleasure we have shown. But in the rain falls on the just and the unjust, so pleasure and pain is meted out. It is life's plan.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

IN A LITTLE comic opera, which I saw the other night, was a very amusing scene in which half a dozen chorus girls and the leading man suddenly break loose, return to their childhood and indulge in an uproarious game of "Follow the Leader."

Among the chorus girls was a little girl in a bright green dress to whom everyone seemed to be looking with especial interest.

No, she wasn't the prettiest. There were two others quite as pretty and one stately blonde, who went through the gyrations in a very bored way, was distinctly beautiful.

The reason everyone was watching the little girl in the bright green dress was simply because she seemed to be enjoying herself so thoroughly. Whether the leader's "stunt" was to hop over a chair or slide down the banisters or jump out of the window she did it with an appearance of zest and enthusiasm and a dicking all-overness that was simply captivating. Before the end of the act she actually received an especial round of applause. And all this without saying a word or doing anything different from the others.

There is seldom a girl, pretty or homely, who doesn't value to the extreme the power of beauty in winning popularity. Most of them decidedly overvalue it.

But how few girls realize the value of vivacity as an attraction!

"Why don't I like her better?" a young man said the other day, when I wondered that he wasn't more enthusiastic over a very pretty girl whom he had just met, "why because she's so dead and alive all the time. I don't care if she is pretty, I'd rather have a plain girl with more go to her."

Look about you at the popular girls and see if the majority of them aren't girls with go, girls with zest and enthusiasm.

Laugh and the world laughs with you and, what is more, loves you for giving it the opportunity.

Enjoyment and enthusiasm are contagious and it is inevitable that we should like to be with those who expose us to the delightful contagion.

Some people are born with a gift for enthusiasm and hearty enjoyment. I think the little girl in the bright green dress must have been one of these. Such have the finest vivacity because it is wholly natural. But enthusiasm and zest and go are things that, to a certain extent, may be cultivated. If you aren't lucky enough to possess them naturally, my heartfelt advice is to do what you can to acquire them.

And, like any good habit acquired for its effect on others, I have no doubt that in the end this one will have a desirable effect on your own character. The vivacity which at first is an effort of the mind will finally become a habit of the heart and you will be doubly repaid—not only will other people like you better but you will probably like yourself better.

MAPLE SUGAR DAINTIES.

Did you ever try the good old-fashioned bunny chabber? Scald and set away a quart of milk in a pretty dish, from which it will be served. When it has thickened, which will be in twenty-four hours if hot weather, put it on the ice an hour or two and just before serving sprinkle with grated maple sugar. Sour milk is said to stay the ravages of disease and old age. It is not an expensive food to experiment with, which is one great advantage.

Dainty Dessert.—Prepare oranges as follows: Take off the peeling, open at one end and make a custard of a cup of milk, a quarter of a cup of maple syrup, a tablespoonful of cornstarch and one egg. When the custard is cold fill the oranges and add a spoonful of whipped cream.

Maple Sandwiches.—Roll a cupful of maple syrup, a half cupful each of dates, almonds and pineapples. Cook for five minutes, take from the fire and add a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Cut the bread in long thin slices, remove the crust, butter and spread with the mixture, then roll up and wrap in waxed paper. Let stand several hours and they will keep their shape when the paper is removed.

This is also a fine filling for a white cake.

Maple Peanut Cookies.—Take two tablespoonfuls of butter, cream it and add a half cup of maple syrup, one egg, two tablespoonfuls of milk, a cup of flour, sifted with a half teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a quarter of a teaspoon of soda, add three-quarters of a cup of chopped peanuts. Drop from a spoon on a buttered sheet.

Maple Creams.—Roll a pint of maple syrup with two tablespoonfuls of glucose until a soft, waxy ball is made, when a little is dropped in cold water. Remove from the heat and stir until the mass is creamy. Roll in balls and decorate with nuts.

NEW UMBRELLAS HAVE TREMENDOUSLY LONG HANDLES.

New poses of grace and elegance will be possible with the umbrellas which have just come into fashion. These umbrellas have handles as long—or longer—than the summer parasols, some of them reaching as high as a short woman's shoulder. These new umbrellas are also in most cheerful colorings, red silk, blue silk or green silk being used for the cover, with big tassels to match. On a rainy day the Frenchwoman is very chic with a gay colored umbrella, and a silk petticoat and chiffon veil exactly matching the shade of her umbrella.

VIOLET SPRAY.

The spray of violets makes a pretty decoration for centerpieces, pillows or flags. The flowers are worked in the solid satin stitch, and the leaves are outlined in the long and short stitch, with the stems in the outline stitch. Stereozed cotton No. 20 should be used, or blue-floss.

SARAH HALE HUNTER.

AN ODDLY TRIMMED HAT FROM PARIS.

The queer blade-shaped ornament, of uncut velvet at the front of this hat gives it a rather bizarre appearance, but the shape, tremendously high in the crown and with a brim rolled up at back and sides, is exceedingly modish. The hat is made of very rich brown velvet with a queue feather ornament in shades of brown and coral at the sides. The blade of uncut velvet in front is coral colored with a lining of the dark brown velvet which covers the crown.

RECIPE THAT MADE FORTUNE

How to Make the Berwick Sponge Cake, Long Famous in New England.

Famous throughout the northern portions of New England for fully three-quarters of a century. The particulars of its history are told in a manuscript cookbook now in the possession of Miss Isabelle Gordon of La Grange, Ill. According to this authority, William Briggs, injured in a railroad accident, promised not to sue the company provided it would agree to build him a restaurant at North Berwick, Me., and there stop every train for five minutes. This was done as agreed, and in twenty years Briggs retired, made rich from the sale of his wonderful sponge cake. The Berwick sponge cake requires six eggs, three cups of powdered white sugar, four even cups of sifted flour, one teaspoon of soda, one cup of cold water and half of a lemon. Beat the eggs two minutes, add the sugar and beat five minutes more; stir the cream of tartar into two cups of the flour; add it to the eggs and sugar and beat for one minute. Dissolve the soda in the water and add it also. Juice the lemon, dry it and add the whole and the rind, grated. Finally add the two remaining cups of flour, and beat all the ingredients together for one minute. Put the dough into two deep tins, and bake in a moderate oven.

FROSTING FOR CAKES

FULL DESCRIPTION OF PROCESS OF MAKING IT RIGHT.

Success Depends Mainly on Steady and Brisk Whipping—How Icing Is Colored and Applied for Decoration.

Take some paper; parchment or a sheet of very thin note-paper, and roll it into the shape of a funnel, pin it together, cutting off the lower end just above the bottom.

Make frosting as follows. Put whites of four eggs into a bowl and whip them with a strong whip or whisk until they are dry. The success of the frosting depends entirely on the steady and brisk whipping between additions of sugar. Add one tablespoon of confectioner's sugar, which has been carefully sifted, and whip briskly for three minutes, then add another tablespoon of sugar and whip as before. After third tablespoon has been added, add half teaspoon of lemon juice and whip briskly again. Continue this process until mixture is stiff enough to hold in any form.

The icing should now be divided into as many parts as there are colors, and each portion colored delicately to the desired shade. Care must be taken to mix the paste thoroughly through frosting, as the otherwise speckled color will appear in it.

Round loaf cakes lend themselves better to decorations than square ones. It should be iced and put away to stand for at least one hour. The remainder of icing should be kept covered with a damp cloth.

Draw a circle the size of the cake on a piece of paper, and draw any design, such as flowers, figures, etc., on the paper. Perforate design with a pin, thus making a pattern. If paper is firm you may place it upon frosted cake, rough side of paper on cake, rubbing gently so that pin pricks will show in frosting, or you may place paper on cake and sprinkle over it a little finely powdered charcoal so that when paper is taken off the pattern is left on cake. Then take the funnel and fold it with top of funnel over icing, so that none of the icing will flow over top of cake when contents are being forced out of the bottom. Holding funnel in one hand, move it along the lines of the designs, using the other hand to squeeze icing on pattern. It is a good idea to always begin in center and work outward.

Venetian Eggs.

Put into the pan two tablespoonfuls of butter and a tablespoonful of finely chopped onion. Add a bit of bay leaf, and, if desired, a half blade of mace. As soon as the onion has colored, remove bay leaf, mace and a quarter cupful of cheese cut in small pieces, a teaspoonful of salt, a salt spoonful of paprika and three eggs slightly beaten. Cook until the eggs are of a creamy consistency, stirring constantly and scraping from the bottom of the pan, then pour over slices of delicately toasted bread.

Grapefruit Glasses.

Nothing is more annoying in the morning when one has to bolt one's breakfast in a hurry than to find the grapefruit sliding all over the saucer. Pretty grapefruit glasses may be bought which are just large enough to hold a half of the fruit. Some of them are in plain glass, with the regular straight-top, while others have a rolling top of tinted glass. These last are pretty if the tinted portion matches the design in the bottom of the glass.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

By A. W. MACY.

HOW ONE FAT LORD COUNTED AS TEN.

The enactment of the law of habeas corpus marks an important epoch in the progress of civil liberty in England, and is regarded as one of the great achievements of Charles the Second's reign. Charles himself did not want the law, but just at the time he was very anxious to curry favor with the people, and was afraid to oppose so popular a measure. The friends and foes of the act were pretty evenly divided in parliament, but on the final vote it was carried. The manner of its passage, however, was both comical and illegal. While the voting was going on a very fat lord arose and asked that his vote be recorded in the affirmative. In a spirit of fun the clerk announced ten votes for him, to accord with his great size. They were so recorded, and for some unexplained reason the "error" was never corrected. The strangest part of it is, the majority for the measure was less than ten; hence it would have failed of passage without the fat lord's extra votes. This is an instance where a joke was carried too far to good purpose.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not even get my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief, and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I own my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

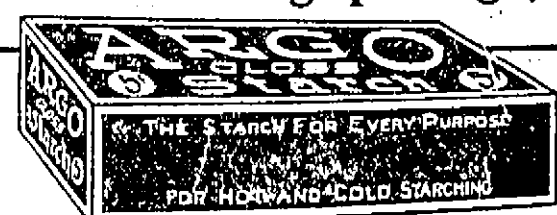

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

DANIEL WEBSTER HAD WISCONSIN PROPERTY

Great Statesman Once Owned Considerable Property in This State; Never Saw It Himself, But Gave It Away.

That Daniel Webster was a landholder in Wisconsin in early days is a little known fact. While visiting his birthplace at Coopersville, a village about six miles from Evansville, in Rock county, well known for its secluded and unobtrusive existence, L. B. King, of Newellville, probate officer for the state board of control, uncovered interesting historical facts. A large tract of land, upon part of which Coopersville now stands, was owned in territorial days by the immortal Webster. He was a busy man, and never got time to travel out west to take account of his possessions, but he turned it in on an account to his family physician, Dr. John Porter, who, with his family, left Marshfield, Mass., toward the home of the Websters, and settled at Coopersville, before that time to this the Porters have been prominent in that community, a considerable number of that name still residing there. The main street of Coopersville is Webster street, named in honor of the great constitutional expounder.

Coopersville abounds with mounds, the remains of a race of pioneers who built a fine old New England town, whose architecture still tells of Dicky Hough, an English builder, who was brought west by the Porters to build the town.

Ralph L. Warner, teacher of arts and crafts of the Racine high school, has transformed an ancient mansion into a summer home, while others of refined and quiet tastes have delighted to make the village a summer resort. The large square in the center of the town has a church in the center, a park in the middle, and there isn't a store nor a phone in the entire town.

OBITUARY.

Charles C. Harden.

Evansville, Aug. 14.—Charles C. Harden, an old resident of the county, died at his home on N. Madison street at four o'clock Saturday morning, August 12, 1911. He had been sick for the past few weeks with a bright disease, and had been with it until the sixth of October, would have been 92 years of age.

He was born in Verona, Oneida county, New York, and as a young man was engaged in navigating a boat on Lake Erie. In 1842 he was settled in marriage with Miss Harriet Sedgewick. They had been married but a year or two when death claimed her, leaving Mr. Harden with a small daughter.

On October 19, 1845 he was married at Canastota, N. Y., to Miss Collinda Sedgewick, a sister of his former wife. In 1855 he came west and located on a farm near Edgerton, Wis., where he continued to make his home for twenty-four years. Thirty-two years ago he came to Evansville and worked as a builder and carpenter until he was forced to retire on account of his extreme age.

Mr. Harden united with the Methodist church at the age of twenty years and has been a faithful member, and one of the most ardent workers the society has ever had. For more than fifteen years he was clerk of the local church where he will be greatly missed. A man of genial disposition and kindly heart, he enjoyed the respect and confidence of all who knew him, while the friends who lived through a long life time most fully appreciated his worth. Mrs. Harden died a little less than a year ago.

The union of Mr. and Mrs. Harden was blessed with nine children, seven of whom are living, namely: Mrs. Marian Van Patten of Iowa City, Ia.; Mrs. Emma Van Patten, Mrs. John Walton and Mrs. Letha Lee of this city; Corvella Harden of Belvidere, George of Rockford and Levi of Seattle, Wash. There are also sixteen grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

It is claimed by Mr. Woodard that about $200 worth of the root was taken from his patch and the deed was committed about ten o'clock Wednesday night. Two men are thought to have made away with the herbs and Mr. Woodard is sure of the persons. Owing to the length of time which has elapsed since the stealing, there was very little which could be accomplished by the Sheriff. A person selling ginseng in Janesville yesterday does not correspond to the suspicions of Mr. Woodard and no arrests have been made yet.

Advantages of An ALL GAS KITCHEN

Cleanliness—There is no dust or dirt from coal and ashes.

Convenience—There is no coal to lug up from the cellar. Light the Gas and begin to cook or use hot water.

Health—There is no place for dust to lurk. Gas Ranges and Gas Water Heaters stand clear of the floor and can easily be swept under.

Economy—You use fuel ONLY when you require heat. When you don't need heat there is no Wasting fuel because you don't have any fire going.

Any ONE of those four reasons is sufficient to warrant installing an All Gas Kitchen. A representative will quote prices and terms upon request.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—It looks as if Father has put his foot into it.

A FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY WAR STORY
BY F. A. MITCHELL.

"And you go to Chattanooga tomorrow?" asked the mother.

"Yes, ma'am; I can't let her do some trading there."

"And you will return this way?"

"I reckon I'll be along by in a few days."

The mother arose and walked with all the stateliness of a southern high born matron into the house. There she resumed the book she had been reading earlier in the evening.

Mark had kept up his assumed character very well during her presence. Now that he was left alone with the daughter he was put to a much severer test. He had been so used from his childhood to meet a refined bearing with one equally refined that he found it difficult to avoid doing so now.

"Don't you love to look at the stars, Mr. Slack?" asked the young lady.

"Waal, yns, Miss."

"My name is Laura Fain."

"I hev always been fond of the science of it." He paused; he suddenly remembered that poor "white trash" were not usually versed in any of the sciences.

"Astronomy," she supplied.

"Waal, yns."

"How did you come to learn astronomy?"

"Oh, I don't know nothin' 'bout it," he said quickly. "I hearn a man at Jasper talken out. He said a heap of queer things."

"What bright star is that?" pointing.

"Venus, I reckon."

"I wonder how far it is from us?" she said musingly.

"Venus? Why, Venus is sixty-eight millions of miles, I reckon."

"I happen to know that's a correct answer."

Mark suddenly became conscious of having forgotten himself. He recollected his critical position and resolved to proceed with greater care.

"How far is the moon?" asked Miss Fain.

"The moon's a hundred million miles, I reckon."

"Oh, no. You're far out of the way there. It's only about two hundred and forty thousand miles."

"Waal, now!" exclaimed Mark in well feigned surprise.

She looked searchingly at him, but Mark looked as if he had simply received an interesting piece of information.

"Do you like poetry?" she asked, changing the subject.

"Some."

"My favorite poet is Tennyson. Is he yours too?"

This was dangerous ground for Mark. He had a special fondness for poetry, and was more likely to betray himself on this than on any other subject.

"No," he said; "I love Shelley best."

"Why, Mr. Slack, how can you understand Shelley? I can't."

"Waal, he is kinder obscure-like."

"Do you remember any of his poems?"

If you do I would like to hear you recite it."

"Waal, I thought give you a few lines of the 'Ode to the Spirit of Nature.'"

"Please do."

Mark would have done well to let the "Ode to the Spirit of Nature" alone; but with a beautiful girl beside him, the half moon shining in the west and all nature in repose, he momentarily forgot his assumed character entirely.

Suddenly he awoke to the consciousness of having given the whole poem in his natural tone and with his ordinary accent.

"Mr. Slack," said his listener when he had finished, "did you learn that from a man in Jasper?"

"No—no—I—waal," he stammered, "I read it in a book."

He stole a glance at his companion, but failed to detect any unusual expression on her face. He took courage.

"What do you raise on your plantation?" she asked.

"Oh, we put in some potatoes and corn, and grow this year."

"Straw?"

"No, no; not straw." Mark was a little conversant with the farmer's art as he was familiar with the poets. "I mean hay."

The girl looked at him and smiled.

"The wheat was all gotten in early this summer, I am told," she remarked casually.

"Yes, we got in our early. We just finished up before I came away."

"Why, Mr. Slack?"

Mark knew that he had blundered again.

"What is gathered in July," she informed the young farmer.

"I mean the corn," he said wildly.

"The corn comes later. It is ripening now."

Mark felt it was all up with him so far as deceiving Miss Fain as to his being a farmer, but he struck out boldly to undo some of the mischief.

"Waal, you see, Miss Fain, to tell the whole truth, dad he don't reckon much on any farmer. He says I oughter be a professor or some'n of that sort."

"A gentleman, for instance."

Mark made no reply. For the first time he detected irony in her tone.

"Mr. Slack—if that is really your name, which I don't believe—you are certainly not very complimentary to my sense of perception."

"How so?"

"In trying to make me think you are not an educated gentleman."

Mark saw the futility of keeping up the sham with Miss Laura Fain any longer. He resolved to give her as much of his confidence as was necessary to keep her from betraying him.

"I will be frank with you. I am not what I have pretended, but I am not here to injure you or yours."

"Are you a Union man?"

"Yes."

"A northerner?"

"Yes; but let that suffice. You would regret it if I should confide anything more to you. Yet from this brief interview I have learned to trust you sufficiently to place my life in your keeping."

She thought a moment. A faint shadow passed over her.

"I don't want to know your secret."

"Will you tell your mother what you have discovered?" asked Mark anxiously.

"Not for worlds."

"You suspect?" He paused and looked at her inquiringly.

"Yes, yes. Don't say any more. Don't breathe another word. Only go away from here as soon as possible."

"I shall go tomorrow morning. I shall always hold you in grateful remembrance. You are a splendid—a lovely woman. I owe you—"

"Yes, yes; go—go early."

She rose and went into the house. In a few minutes a colored boy came out and told Mark that he would show him to his room. As Mark had been there before, he knew this meant that he was expected to retire for the night.

As he went by the parlor he glanced in. The mother sat by a lamp on a "center table" reading. Miss Fain's face was also bent over a book. It was white as the margin of the page she pretended to read.

CHAPTER IV.

WHEN Mark went down stairs the next morning, followed by Jakey, they were invited into the breakfast room.

Laura Fain was there, but her mother was not. Mark looked at Laura, but she avoided his gaze. He asked after her mother.

"Mamma scarcely ever gets up to breakfast," she said as she poured out a substitute for coffee.

During the meal she said but little, and that was only on commonplace subjects. She seemed to have more on her mind than the soldier who was taking his life in his hands, and studiously avoided looking at him at all.

After breakfast Mark followed his hostess through a door opening into a sitting room on the opposite side of the hall from the parlor.

"Miss Fain," he said, "I know too well the station of your family and southern customs not to accept as a gift the hospitality you have afforded. I can only express my indebtedness, and the hope that some day the war may be over and I can come down here and show my gratitude for something of far more moment to me than a night's lodging."

He paused, and then added:

"May I ask a question? Are you a Union or a Confederate girl?"

"Confederate."

Mark looked at her uneasily.

"I inferred from what you said last night that you will not betray me."

"I will not."

"But you think you ought to."

"I do."

Mark stood gazing at her. She was looking out of the window with a troubled expression.

"Miss Fain," he said, "you may be doing wrong; you may be doing right. At any rate you are acting the part of a woman, and this act makes you in my eyes the loveliest woman that lives."

The words were scarcely spoken when the muscles of the girl's face contracted into an expression of horror. Mark could not understand why his speech had so affected her. The natural uncertainty of his position impelled him to look about him for the cause.

Glancing out of the front window he saw an officer in gray uniform on horseback in the act of reaching down to open the gate.

"Come quick!" she said, seizing his arm. "No, not Mamma! She doesn't know. Oh, what shall we do?"

Mark took her by the hand and spoke to her coolly, but quickly. "Call Jakey for me, and we will both go down stairs and from there to the barn. We can then go out without meeting this officer, for he is doubtless coming in. There is no especial danger. We shall meet plenty of soldiers before we return."

She threw out of the room to find Jakey. While she was gone Mark watched the approaching horseman.

He was a fine specimen of a southern man—tall and slender, with long black hair, mustache and goatee and a fine black eye. He looked, as he came riding up the roadway, the impersonation of the southern gentleman.

Before he had dismounted Mark and Jakey were on their way to the barn.

Laura Fain opened the front door just as the officer was coming up the steps.

"Why, Cameron," she exclaimed, "how did you get away? I thought you told me you were to be officer of the guard today."

"I persuaded my friend the adjutant to detail another man."

"Was there a special reason?"

"Certainly. I positively couldn't stand it another day not to see you. Besides we are momentarily expecting orders to cross to this side of the river."

"But you will be nearer to us than, won't you?"

"I am afraid not. Once on this side we'll not stop nearer than Dallas or Poe's. We may join Colonel Forrest near Sparta, or wherever he may be, doubtless somewhere in the enemy's rear. He seldom troubles the Yankees in front. But you are not listening, my darling, and you are pale. You are not ill?"

"Certainly not."

"You are sorry that I came?"

"Why, Cameron, what do you mean?"

"Come quick!" she said, seizing his arm.

You know I always want you to come."

She led the way into the sitting room, from which Mark had disappeared but a minute before—a minute as a long while sometimes. Mrs. Fain entered and received the guest most graciously.

Captain Cameron Fitz Hugh was a young Virginian, a graduate of the University of Virginia law school, the son of wealthy parents, whose acres and negroes were numbered by thousands. He had known the Fains before the war, Mrs. Fain having been born and reared in the Old Dominion. During a visit of Laura to his people, shortly before the breaking out of hostilities, he had fallen in love with her, had proposed and been accepted. Both families being agreeable, the two were engaged to be married.

"This is an unexpected pleasure, captain," said Mrs. Fain.

"I did not suppose I could get away today."

"Everything is unexpected in these times. We never know who is coming to us. Last night I slept uneasily for fear that we harbored a guerrilla in the house."

"How is that?" asked Captain Fitz Hugh.

"Where are the strangers, Laura?"

"I think they are gone, mamma."

"A countryman and his little brother," said Mrs. Fain to the captain.

"Laura thought him quite a gentleman for one so poorly dressed."

"But I changed my mind, mamma," said Laura quickly.

"And what was the occasion of so sudden a bouleversement?" asked the captain.

"Why—why, when we were sitting on the veranda after you went in, mamma."

"Sitting on the veranda with a countryman?" exclaimed the lover.

"Well, yes; mamma said to invite him up. But I was going to say—"

Laura's inventive powers had gained time to her by the interruption—"I found that he was only an ignorant farmer after all, for I asked him how far the moon was, and he said he reckoned it was a hundred million miles."

"That doesn't prove anything," Fitz Hugh remarked. "I don't believe there's an officer in my regiment knows that. But it becomes us to be very careful. The commanding general has made it known unofficially through his staff officers that he is especially distrustful of concealing his intentions. One spy penetrating for even a day at Chattanooga might frustrate all his plans. If the enemy knew that we are concentrating there, and how weak we are there at present, he would or at least he should come down with a large force and drive us south."

A troubled expression crossed Laura's face.

"Indeed!" said Mrs. Fain. "I was not aware of that. Suppose the young man was a spy."

"Cameron," said Laura, "I wish you wouldn't talk so to mamma. She will be suspicious of every poor beggar that asks a crust. The man's name was Slack. There are plenty of Slacks among the poor whites about here. I have a sick family of that name on my hands now not a mile up the road."

"Has the fellow gone?" asked Fitz Hugh.

"I think I would better see him."

"Gone! Of course he's gone," said Laura, with a heaving bosom.

"Where did he say he was going?"

"To Chattanooga," said Mrs. Fain.

"I'll mount and follow him. I can easily overtake him on horseback."

"Nonsense!" said Laura, with a pout; "you have been riding me for a week, and now you are going as soon as you're cold."

"But, my darling, would I have me?"

"I would have you stay where you are, and—"

Mrs. Fain, seeing that some cooling was coming, wisely withdrew.

"And what, sweetheart?"

"Tell me what I love to hear," she said softly.

"I've told you that so often you should certainly be tired of it by this time."

Fitz Hugh looked inquiringly into her face as he smoothed back her hair. He was used to these requests to repeat his assurances of affection, but there was a nervous something about his fiancée this morning that puzzled him.

His back was toward the window, while she was facing it. Suddenly she clasped her arms tightly around him.

"Now go if you can!" she said, affecting a playful tone.

"Why, Laura, what does this mean?" he asked, astonished.

"You don't love me!" she whined.

"Love you, pet! You know I do."

"Then why do you act so?"

"Act how?"

NOTES FOR CITY FARMERS ONLY.

(By H. L. RANN.)

An anxious inquirer wants to know when is the best time to sow wild oats.

The best time is between the ages of 84 and 92. By that time a man's ardor for cheap booze and his longing to fill to two pairs have turned as cold as a pair of ice feet inserted in the small of your back on Christmas morning.

When a man's eyesight falls so that he can't see the corner pocket or tell a lady friend from the night watch, he ought to sow his first crop for one night out with the boys will curl him up like a back sheep with the castrates. The young man who thinks he can drill in a juicy crop of wild oats at the age of sixteen and cultivate it with four full quarts a day, cheap coffee and a stripped deck until he is thirty, will find himself beating a well-worn path to the insubstantial home when he ought to be doing a man's work for an honest wage.

The platform lecturer who tells you that "every boy must sow his wild oats" is a bigger ass than Halaam's colt, which became angered with its mother because she withheld the daily papulum and tried to kick the rim off of the Milky Way.

The boy who thinks more of a tri-weekly jag than he does of the feelings of a good father or mother merely adds venom to a memory that will sting him until he cures in.

The towns are full of young fellows who have gone up against this wild oats proposition, and they are as worthless for work purposes as a club-footed gelding. A sloppily drunk is about as good a password to the confidence of a business community as a record for housebreaking and the callow youth who goes to the mat daily with a half pint of red eye will be about as much of a favorite in the betting as a one-legged man in a hurdle race. If you are bound to set out a good crop of wild oats, wait until you reach the age when you have to take your teeth out and clean them in the sink, while whistling softly through your gums as you converse with your loved ones.

The next time you catch your young son riding the mower with the hired man, spunk him until his back teeth chatter and fire the hired man. This practice is more dangerous than flinging your alimentary tract with predigested roadstools.

Little Bed-Time Tales By EDITH HAVENS

The Flower Fairy

It was a high, red brick wall that separated the home of the little rich girl and the little poor girl. And, oh, what a difference there was on one side compared to the other. On the little rich girl's side there was a beautiful stretch of green lawn, covered with stately shade trees, while here and there were the most beautiful gardens any one could wish for. And it was such a great big, wonderful house the little rich girl lived in. Her name was Erma.

Now on the other side of the wall the scene changed. There was a tumbled-down brick dwelling, situated in a very stuffy little street. The buildings and tenements were so thick that not even the sunlight could find its way into the alleys. Not a bit of grass could be seen—no trees—only hard, brick sidewalks and dirty, gray cobblestones. The little girl who lived in the tumbled-down house was named Hilda, and she was a very sweet little girl.

One day while standing on a barrel while Erma came close to the wall in an effort to get her cat, her only friend, from off the top of the brick wall, Hilda noticed the little face peering down at her. "Well, who are you, and what do you want?" she asked. "Well, who are you, and what do you want?" she asked.

Erma laughed cruelly.
